

MESSAGE

I convey my greetings to all members, veterans and their families on the occasion of 237th Anniversary of the Corps of Engineers on 18 Nov 2017.

The Corps has a prolific history which resonates of relentless courage, dogged determination and selfless service since 1780. Sappers have demonstrated unflinching dedication and technical acumen, not only in providing combat support but during numerous calls for disaster relief. The obligation of providing infrastructure to all three Services and other organizations of the Ministry of Defence is being handled by the Corps with utmost professionalism. The achievements of the Corps in field of sports also bears testimony of their grit and resolve.

In their journey to boost operational preparedness and capacity building along the borders, Sappers have proved their mettle by meeting steep targets of providing infrastructure in inhospitable terrain under challenging conditions.

I wish the Corps good luck and success in all its endeavours.

JAI HIND!
